Day Camp

The Rochester Soccer Camp believes that the "game" is the best teacher and that philosophy is evident at our camp. Daily activities include individual ball skills, small-sided games, group tactics and learning through playing. Emphasis will be placed on individual player development, gaining a better understanding of the game and most importantly having fun!

Players will be placed on teams according to age, gender and ability to ensure that campers are comfortable within their group. This also creates a healthy, challenging learning environment for each player. Campers will have the opportunity to learn from some of the best college soccer coaches and players in the region. The sessions are serious and intense, but we never lose sight of the fact that soccer is a game and the player's enjoyment is the number one priority.

Facilities

The University of Rochester provides an outstanding environment for soccer including two new turf stadium fields and a new grass field, which are all within walking distance of the dorms and dining center. Campers will also have access to an indoor field house, and additional grass fields.

Soccer Balls

Daily activities include individual ball skills training, which requires every camper to have a ball. For those interested, we will be selling ADIDAS hand-sewn soccer balls for $30. If you would like to purchase a ball at registration, please mark the appropriate box on the registration form.

Attend the Residential or Day Camp as a Team!

A team camp option is available for high school and club teams interested in living together (Elite Camp only), training and competing as a unit. Attending as a group is a great way to build chemistry, work on team tactics and get a head start on your season. In addition each player will receive a discounted registration fee!

To learn more and register your team, please call:
(585)276-5105 or (585)276-5101

UR Residential Camp

The Residential Camp is designed for high school age players. The camp combines individual skills with advanced team tactics to enhance the development of each player. Campers will be exposed to challenging training sessions to improve decision-making and speed of play. Competitive evening matches will also enhance development and provide players the opportunity to showcase their ability and potential to perform at the collegiate level.

Individual attention and instruction are fundamental goals at the Residential Camp. Staff members are selected for their knowledge and passion for teaching the game. Campers will be instructed on the principles of zonal defending, possession, combination play, 1 v 1 play, counter attacking and finishing. Our coach to camper ratio is 1:8 and the staff is committed to one on one coaching and the personal development of every player. At the end of the camp each player will receive a written evaluation to guide them with their training and development after camp.

The UR Residential Soccer Camp combines outstanding facilities, exceptional coaches and high-level competition to be the premier soccer camp in upstate New York.

Goalkeeping Curriculum

Our goalkeeping staff will teach players the technical, tactical, mental and physical aspects of this crucial position. Individualized training will focus on: footwork, catching, distribution, angle play, high balls, decision-making and communication. The training experience is further enhanced as the goalkeepers are incorporated into small group training sessions and full field 11 v 11 matches. Our goal is to provide every goalkeeper with the tools they need to continue to improve long after the conclusion of camp.
